Overview

For over 30 years, Langley Productions has held a high standing in Hollywood for their authentic and creative storytelling cinema verite productions. Producing hit shows like COPS, Jail Big Texas, Undercover Sting, and more, they have owned the market for crime based reality television.

However even with Langley Productions' long-standing innovative reputation, their website hadn't been updated in years and didn't reflect their credibility within the industry. With that in mind, the team from Langley Productions approached us requesting help to reinvigorate their site. They needed a fresh new look that would highlight their different projects, talk about upcoming productions, and wow entertainment industry colleagues. We had a blast partnering with the team from Langley Productions to design a modern site and develop it to perfection.
